The Army Medical Library.

Both library and museum date their existence from the late civil war, whose horrors and sufferings prompted a profound study of military medicine and surgery. In 1882, Surgeon General Hammond directed all medical officers of the army "to collect and forward to the office of the surgeon general all specimens of morbid anatomy, surgical or medical, which may be regarded as valuable, together with projectiles and foreign bodies removed, and such other matters as may prove of interest." The office of the surgeon general possessed about 850 books on medical subjects at that time, when congress legislated to appropriate $5,000 yearly for the purchase of reference books to be used in the compilation of the "Medical and Surgical History of the War." In 1885, Dr. John S. Billings, U. S. A., was placed in charge of the embryo enterprise and his wide, grasping mind instantly seized this opportunity to lay the foundation of a national medical library. The success of this scheme, under his energetic administration as curator for 30 years has been phenomenal.

Since April, 1897, Dr. J. C. Merrill has been in charge of the library, which at present contains on its shelves 120,000 volumes of bound books, and more than 200,000 pamphlets, besides a valuable collection of atlases of plates and engravings, and is acknowledged to be "the most complete collection of medical literature in the world."—Godey's Magazine.

New Zealand Mutton.

The story of a New Zealand sheep designed for the London market may be very briefly told. It is taken from the run to the slaughter house, killed, dressed and transferred to the cooling room. The skin and superfluous fat are retained, after ten hours' cooling the carcass goes into the refrigerating room for 36 hours. Thence it goes to the storing room, and when it has been enveloped in its cotton "shirt" and labeled is ready for its journey over sea. The steamers which bring the meat to us through the tropics have, of course, to be fitted with refrigerating appliances, and our sheep takes its place among thousands of others, some of the boats being fitted to carry as many as 10,000 carcasses at one time.

There are 88 vessels engaged in the trade, capable of transporting 6,700,000 sheep per annum. Arrived in the Thames, the barges come alongside the vessel, and the sheep is transferred to a cold storage station. Here it may lie for weeks or for months if necessary, so that—an important commercial advantage—there is no necessity for immediate sale on a depressed market.—Good Words

The Fare and the Fine.

A good story is told of a certain Scotch bailie who, on rising one morning, found that he had overslept himself and had but a few minutes in which to keep a most important appointment. Making a hurried toilet, he rushed from the house and hailed a passing jehu. "Drive me," he said to the man, "to the courts of justice with all possible speed. On no account delay an instant." Faithful to his instructions, the driver urged his steed to its very utmost. Faster and faster they went until, after an exciting drive, he deposited his fare at his destination in time for the appointment, but not before he had damaged a passing vehicle in his mad career. The bailie, on alighting, handed him his fare, with the addition of a substantial tip, and then, to the man's astonishment, pressed 30 shillings into his hand, at the same time saying: "Here's 30 shillings, my man. You will be brought before me tomorrow for furious driving, and I shall fine you that amount."

Don't Put Things Off.

"I cannot too strongly impress upon you, Philip," said Mrs. Gratebar, "the fact that things in general are not automatic—that is, they will not do themselves—and the longer you put off the attack upon them the harder they are to tackle. Don't put things off, Philip. To things that require deliberation you will give sufficient thought; but, as to the run of things that come up, acquire the habit of disposing of them as they come along, you will find it a great help in many ways. Don't crowd me up, Philip. The first thing you know you will have more stacked up than you can saw, and then, too, the pile is liable to fall on you at any time and hurt you. "Two things to remember, Philip—first, things are not automatic; second, the time to attend to things is now."—New York Sun

"Yes. He said he was tempted to keep on marrying until he got a wife that could make a good cup of coffee."

THE HAZZARD CIRCULAR.

In 1862 when the people of the United States were at war with each other the government issued notes to pay war expenses. These notes were a legal tender for all obligations, except duties on imports and interest on the public debt. Political economists and eminent statesmen concurred in the opinion that failure on the part of Congress to make the government note, or greenback, a legal tender for all debts of whatever kind and character was the greatest misfortune that ever befell the country. While the masses of the people of the United States had their whole attention directed to the war the capitalists were receiving instructions from European money lenders. These instructions were embodied in the famous Hazzard circular, which was issued in London for the guidance of the capitalists of New York city. Following is an extract from that circular, which at this time shows how thoroughly the money kings understood the bond question six years ago:

"Slavery is likely to be abolished by the war power, and chattel slavery destroyed. This I and my European friends are in favor of, for slavery is not the owning of labor, and carries with it the care of the laborers, while the European plan, led by England, is for capital to control labor by controlling the wages. This can be done by controlling the money. To accomplish this, the bonds must be used as a banking basis. We are now waiting for the Secretary of the Treasury to make the recommendation to Congress. It will not do to let the greenback, as it is called, to circulate as money any length of time, as we cannot control that."

NEVADA VOLUNTEERS.

The State of Nevada, with a population of 45,000 or less, has furnished the United States with 534 men for the volunteer army to fight the Spaniards. This is proportionately a larger number of troops than has enrolled in the volunteer service in any State in the Union. The first troop of cavalry for Torrey's regiment was enrolled and organized in Nevada. This troop is now at Jacksonville, Florida, en route to Porto Rico. The Nevada Cavalry troop (independent) was ordered west and has been at San Francisco for sometime expecting to be ordered to Manila through late reports to the effect that it will be sent to the Yosemite Valley. The infantry battalion, now at the State Capital will probably be sent to Manila, but the men are ready to go wherever they are ordered.

Quite a number of the Nevada Volunteers are natives of the State, in fact nearly 60 per cent of the members of the cavalry troop were born in Nevada. The percentage of natives of the State in the infantry battalion is not so large but nearly all have resided in the State long enough to acquire a voting residence. The State will probably lose 500 votes by reason of the war with Spain as only a small percentage of the volunteers are minors and not over twenty-five of them came from California.

The boys are patriotic. Many of them left lucrative employment to enlist and several of them are the sons of merchants and farmers, who are in comfortable circumstances. They have the best wishes of all and the hope is general that they will return from the war covered with glory and wreathed with the laurels of victory.

The delegates from Nevada who remained in the Republican National Convention at St. Louis when it declared for the gold standard, seem to have been overlooked by President McKinley and Mark Hanna when they paroled out the Federal office in Nevada. This is ungenerous on the part of the Administration and exasperating to the delegates who remained in the convention.

The salary of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction was fixed by the Legislature of 1897 at $2,000 a year, which shall be in full for all ex-officio duties which he is now or may hereafter be called upon to perform.

Mr. BRADG, who expected to be rewarded with the Surveyor Generalship for his treachery to the mining interests of the State, now thinks that Mr. Hanna is all that the Ohio Senate said of him and more too.

"What did we gain by advocating the single gold standard in a silver producing State?" is a question certain Washoe statesmen are asking themselves just now.

The Rio Janeiro sailed yesterday for the Philippines, Brigadier General Olin aboard.

CONDENSED WAR NOTES.

Five troops of cavalry at Camp Alger Va., have been ordered to Porto Rico. They are all famous troops in their section.

It now turns out that the letter alleged to have been addressed by General Garcia to General Shafter was written by a newspaper correspondent who has been acting upon the staff of General Castillo. It is not clear that General Garcia ever saw the letter.

A story is told at New York, coming from Cubans near Santiago of a fight between Cubans under Garcia, and the Spanish troops coming to Santiago to surrender. The meeting took place on the road between Santiago and Holguin and resulted in the defeat of the Cubans, 400 of whom surrendered.

The Spaniards of San Juan de Porto Rico are making extensive preparations to resist the expected attack of the American warships.

The first Porto Rican expedition from Tampa was to sail last night. It consists of six transports.

A dispatch from Key West says: The United States gunboats Topeka, Annapolis, Wasp and Leyden silenced the forts in Nips bay on the northern coast of the province of Santiago de Cuba on Thursday, and sunk the Spanish gunboat Juan Jorge which lay in the harbor, the four ships mentioned pounding away at the forts for an hour, when the Spanish flag was hauled down.

The Americans did not lose a man, but the Spanish loss must have been heavy. The crew of the Juan Jorge escaped to the shore.

The channel leading into the harbor was very narrow and on a bluff to the right was a fort and signal station. As the American ships entered the Spanish were signaling in a lively manner, apparently notifying the Spanish ships which were in the harbor, the Juan Jorge, two smaller gunboats and an armored launch.

As the Wasp and Leyden rounded the point the fort fired a dozen shots, none of which came near them and they returned the fire.

Almost immediately the Spaniards deserted the fort and ran. While the Topeka continued to fire her three-pounder, the Spaniards kept on running.

In the meanwhile the Wasp and Leyden had taken up a position on the northwestern portion of the harbor and opened fire across the water at the Juan Jorge. Her position was about one and one-third miles from the shore and behind her was another fort which now opened fire.

A general fight followed. The Topeka anchored in the middle of the harbor and the other American boats formed a semi-circle around.

They then closed in on the Spanish ship and sank her within twenty minutes. This was one of the shortest but most vicious engagements of the war.

The two factions of Republicans in Reno, both of which were left out when the Federal pie was distributed, have united in their denunciations of Hanna-McKinley.

As a brick fell from a carrier's hod it knocked down a Spanish flag displayed from a store-front below. "That must have been an American brick," said a passer-by. "Yes," said the hod-carrier, "but it was of Irish descent."

SMALL BUSINESS.

The Quartermaster Declines to Pay for Necessary Telegrams.

When the First Nevada Cavalry, which was ordered to Cheyenne, Wyoming, to be mustered into the service of the United States, arrived at that point by rail they were quartered in a dance hall without blankets. Captain Lincolnton telegraphed Governor Sadler that the men were suffering and that they had been ordered to San Francisco. The Governor sent the following to Major General Merritt, San Francisco: Carson City, Nev., June 10, 1898.

First Troop Nevada Cavalry in Cheyenne without blankets.

ports that he is ordered to San Francisco. Can troop be equipped there upon arrival? This State has no cavalry equipments. Please answer.

REINHOLD SADLER, Governor of Nevada.

Major General Merritt immediately answered the telegram in the affirmative and now Captain Chas. B. Thompson, A. Q. M., U. S. A., San Francisco, says the message should be paid for by the State authorities. Our glorious Government, which is so generous to corporations that it sent the Nevada Cavalry by rail from Reno to Cheyenne and then back again by rail in a few days from Cheyenne to Reno, at great expense to the Government, and also sent an officer from San Francisco to Carson to muster in the troop two days after the troop had been sent to Cheyenne, cannot now afford to pay a half dollar for a telegram which was sent to ascertain whether the State or United States would have to furnish Nevada volunteers with blankets. What a glorious country for corporations!

Democratic State Central Committee.

The Democratic State Central Committee met at Virginia City yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock. J. R. Ryan presided and Thomas Orms was Secretary. There was a large attendance, every county being represented. The State Convention was set for September 7th at Reno. The total number of delegates for the State was apportioned at 156. The test for the primaries is, "I endorse the platform adopted by the National Democratic Convention at Chicago in 1896 and I will support the nominees of the Democratic State Convention of Nevada."

After the Train Robbers.

Sheriff McInnis returned from his hunt for the late train robbers, on Friday night, after visiting southeastern Oregon and within a short distance of the Idaho line. The trip although unsuccessful afforded information that will be valuable. The Sheriff left again last evening to continue the hunt and it is believed the robbers will be captured. The amount of money taken was, as has already been reported, less than $450.

Will go to Carson To-day.

Walter Hastings received a telegram last evening asking him to come to Carson with his band for the funeral of the late Adjutant General of Nevada, C. A. Galsaba, which will take place at that city at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The funeral will be under the auspices of the Masonic Lodge of which he was a member. The Nevada Battalion will also be in attendance and conduct the military ceremonies.

Free Scholarships.

There will be a few free scholarships given at Luray College, Virginia, this year to worthy young ladies who are endeavoring to get an education and who have to provide for themselves. Preference is given to orphans, other things being equal. For other information address:

Will Avoid the Payment if Possible.

There is a general howl along the line at Wells, Fargo & Company and other corporations, owing to their quick and grasping policy in trying to evade their proportion of the war tax. Few chances are that when they are forced to pay, they will force their employees to pay the tax by reducing their salaries. These are the methods usually resorted to by corporations.

Soldier Boys Not Pleased on Such Comfort.

The Red Cross ladies have many stories to tell of their experiences, but none of the hard luck order out does that of the woman who spent several weeks in making sleeping caps for the soldiers at Camp Merritt. One day she went over and discovered that the caps were in general use for cleaning the guns.—Oakland Enquirer.

The Foley Estate Suit Compromised.

The Foley Estate case was finally compromised on Friday evening by an arrangement that Mrs. Smith should pay the eastern heirs the sum of $25,000. This will probably conclude a legal complication that has already consumed considerable time and money and is now settled satisfactory to all parties concerned.

NATIONAL BANKRUPTCY ACT.

It Supersedes All State Legislation.

The National Bankruptcy Act, recently passed by Congress, provides that no petition for voluntary insolvency shall be filed within one month after its passage, and no petition for involuntary insolvency shall be filed within four months after passage.

The United States District Court is designated as the Court of Bankruptcy and the Judge of the Court shall have the appointment of referee and trustee, which positions are created by the Act.

No individual holding any office of profit or emolument under the laws of the United States or of any State is eligible to the position of referee, except Commissioners of Deeds, Justices of the Peace, Masters in Chancery and Notaries Public. As many referees may be appointed as are necessary to assist in expediting business pending in courts of bankruptcy.

One who petitions to have another declared bankrupt must give a bond for all costs and damages, counsel fees to be fixed by the court, and paid to the respondent in case the action fails.

Any person who owes a debt, except a corporation, is entitled to the benefits of voluntary bankruptcy. Any natural person, except a wage-earner or a person engaged chiefly in farming or the tillage of the soil, and unincorporated company, and any incorporation engaged principally in manufacturing, trading, printing, publishing or mercantile pursuits, owing debts to the amount of $1,000 or over, may be adjudged an insolvent bankrupt. Partnerships and private bankers, but not national banks or banks incorporated under State or Territorial laws, may be adjudged involuntary bankrupts.

The Act does not affect the allowance to bankrupts of exceptions under the laws of the State where the bankrupt has resided for six months. A bankrupt must attend the first meeting of creditors and submit to all lawful orders of the court. He cannot be compelled to attend a meeting more than 150 miles from his home.

Imprisonment for a period not to exceed five years is the penalty upon conviction of the offense of having fraudulently appropriated property or documents held as trustee and belonging to any bankrupt estate.

The new Act supersedes all State laws on Bankruptcy, but no proceedings instituted prior to the passage of the law will be affected by it.

ME AN JIM.

His name is full—
There's still a village only there, an passing days are dull.
But then old times the locust shades re'ched, clear across the street,
The white bloom laugh over us—seen nothing since so sweet.
An Jim could, I remember well, plump out the middle man
As any's some wild cowboy now with his good ride can.
An seems I hear, "My go this time," as plain as then it rung
When me an Jim played marbles an Jim an me was young.

The boys, I guess, have wandered off, an may be some are dead.
The locust trees have rotted down where once their shadows spread
The oldlike villagers, no doubt, are seen no more where they Sat on the fence an watched the game that they when young would play.
But still I yearn to wander back, an under that old sky
Look my last look on boyhood's scenes when I shall come to die
An rest forever high where trees their lovin shadows flung
Where me an Jim played marbles when Jim an me was young.

NO GROG IN OUR NAVY.

Nevertheless Uncle Sam's Seamen Are a Match For Any Nation.

The practice of serving out a ration of grog daily to United States man-of-war's men was discontinued many years ago. It was found to be a bad scheme. While most of the men were able to use the rum in moderation, it was found that there were many of the bluejackets in whom the service of ration of liquor only served to stimulate an appetite for more, and who, after imbibing the ship's grog, would "hit the beach," embark upon sizeable spees and get into scrapes both ashore and aboard ship when they returned to duty more or less shabby. When these facts were satisfactorily proved, the serving out of grog to United States man-of-war's men was discontinued. Sailors in all of the others of the world's great navies still receive their daily grog.

The fact probably does not prove anything, but the writer, who has seen man-of-war's men of all nations on tumultuous shore liberty in quite a few parts of the world, has yet to see a French, Italian or Spanish bluejacket or a British man-of-war's man in a stand up fight, such as heavy other men of the navy are bound to do up in a quick engaged in hitting the deck. The reason why the fact probably proves nothing is that the American sailor, who gets no grog, is a different man from the others, who get it. He is a different man from the others, who get it. He is a different man from the others, who get it.

The only thing that the average old man-of-war's man likes better than a piece of the China station, say, than a bit with a French, Italian or Spanish man-of-war's man, is a fight with the other four of 'em put together. The latter sailors may scratch him up a bit with their finger nails—their methods of fighting may be judged from this fact—but when the cops, otherwise the landlubber, appear on the scene—to get muddled around a heap themselves in many cases—they generally have a few laid out south European deep water men to sort out of the dust.—Exchange.

Wooden Clogs In Japan.

"The Little Japanese at Home" is the title of an article by Miss Ida Tigner Hodnett in St. Nicholas. Miss Hodnett says:

Tabi (tah-bee), socks of blue or white cotton cloth, are worn on the little feet. They are made like mittens, with a place for the great toe separate from the others, so as to allow the strap which fastens on the clogs to pass between. The clogs are made of wood and have two little wooden pegs under the soles, high or low, according to the taste of the wearer, but in either case capable of making a great clatter on wood, stone or pebbles. Fortunately it is not the custom to wear any footgear besides the socks in the house. The single strap divides into two parts, which pass on each side of the foot and fasten to the clog. These straps, or thongs, on little girls' clogs are sometimes brightly colored. With but one fastening, it is an easy matter to take off the clogs when entering a house and leave them on the veranda, and the custom is certainly conducive to tidiness. It is a necessary custom, for the clogs would be ruinous to the fine soft mats covering the floor.

Complexion is another important and interesting point to the Japanese girl as well as to her American and European sisters.

So Put His Foot In It.

A woman's club that invested in a clubhouse not long since was much against its will obliged to employ men laborers. The architect was a woman, but it was found impossible to procure women carpenters, masons and plasterers. One day shortly before the completion of the structure a workman who was employed upon the roof made a misstep and thrust his foot through the beautiful but not yet dried ceiling of the auditorium. Just at this time, too, a number of club members chanced to be in the building, and their emotions at the sight of the pedal extremity pendulous from the ceiling may be better imagined than described. The man was eventually rescued and the hole mended, but the patch still shows upon the ceiling, and as the first vice president puts it, "Well, I knew that if a man had anything to do with this club he would be sure to put his foot in it."—Chicago Tribune.

WAR REVENUE.

The Poor Must Bear the Burden—What Must be Stamped, and the Amount of Stamp.

After April 1st every bond, debenture or certificate of indebtedness issued by a company or corporation will be taxed at the rate of five cents on every $100 of face value, and every transfer of shares or certificates of stock can be accomplished only by pasting the evidence of these transactions with stamps amounting to two cents for each $100 of face value.

Whenever a sale or agreement to sell any products or merchandise for present or future delivery is made stamps must be cancelled, one cent for every $100 in the value of such sale.

When a bank check, draft or certificate of deposit is presented for payment it must bear a two-cent stamp.

Inland bills of exchange can be made legal only by stamping them with a two-cent stamp for each $100, while foreign bills of exchange must be stamped double that amount.

A bill of lading or receipt for any goods to be exported must bear a ten-cent stamp.

Every bundle sent by express or freight must have a 1-cent stamp stuck on it.

Under the new law telephone companies must keep an account of the number of messages or conversations carried on over their lines, for which there has been a charge of 15 cents or over, and they must pay the government at the rate of 1 cent for each of those messages.

In addition to the fees of notaries public in the signing of bonds, guaranteeing a faithful performance of any duty the signers of such bonds must see that a 50-cent stamp is attached to them.

Whenever a ship is chartered that charter must bear a $3 stamp if the vessel tonnage is less than 300 tons, a $5 stamp if between 300 and 600 tons, and a $10 stamp if over 600 tons.

About all kinds of contracts are taxable under the law. A broker's note, or memorandum of sale of any goods, must be ornamented with a 10-cent stamp. And deed whereby land or improvements are sold or transferred is taxed at the rate of 10 cents for each $500.

A telegram cannot be sent by an operator if it does not have a cent stamp on its face.

The entry of goods in a warehouse must be accompanied by canceling stamps, a 25-cent stamp if the value is less than $100, a 50-cent stamp if between $100 and $500, and a $1 stamp if in excess of $500.

When goods come out of a bonded warehouse they must bear another stamp with a face value of 50 cents.

All kinds of insurance will be subjected to taxation except such insurance concerns as are run on the plan of co-operation which does not yield a profit to those not insured. For each $100 of life insurance taken out there is a tax of 8 cents, so that the tax of the usual $1,000 policy will be 80 cents.

Marine, inland, fire and casualty, fidelity and guarantee insurance must pay a tax equal to one-half of one cent on each dollar of the premium charged.

Every lease for the rent of land or houses if for one year will be stamped with a 25-cent stamp, if between one and three years they must bear a 50-cent stamp, and if over three years a $1 stamp.

Mortgages must be stamped with a 25-cent stamp if between $1,000 and $1,500, and with another similar stamp for each $500 in the amount.

It has been estimated that $1,000,000,000 are spent annually by Americans traveling abroad. In the future these travelers must have their passage tickets stamped. It will take a $1 stamp if the ticket carrying them from the shores of America costs not more than $30, $3 if costing between $30 and $60, and $5 if costing more than $60.

It has been common for people to give proxies for voting at elections of officers of corporations or associations. In the future such proxies can be successfully challenged if they do not have attached to them a 10-cent stamp. Exceptions are made in the cases of proxies for voting for officers of religion, charitable, literary societies and officers of public cemeteries.

Powers of attorney for the sale or renting of real estate, stocks, bonds, etc., are taxed at a higher rate. In such cases a 25-cent stamp will be necessary.

People no longer like to have their notes protested. Such a proceeding not only injures the credit of the party making the note, but it costs something. In the future it will cost still more, for Uncle Sam must get 25 cents whenever such action is taken.

Proprietary medicines are taxed, but physicians' prescriptions are exempt from taxation. The tax of medicinal proprietary articles and preparations are as follows: Where the retail price is five cents, one-eighth of one cent; where the retail price is between five and ten cents, two-eighths of one cent; between ten and fifteen cents, three-eighths of one cent; between fifteen and twenty-five cents, five-eighths of one cent. For each additional twenty-five cents of retail price, or fractional price thereof five-eighths of one cent.

Perfumery, cosmetics and other similar articles are taxed according to the retail price at the same rate adopted by proprietary medicines.

Chewing gum is taxed 4 per cent on its retail price.

Sparkling or other wines, when bottled, are taxed one cent per pint or less; two cents for bottles containing more than a pint.

Corporations or individuals refining sugar or petroleum, or running a pipe line whose annual receipts are over $250,000, will pay one-fourth of one per cent on their gross receipts in excess of $250,000.

Every man riding in a palace car, or occupying a berth in a sleeping car, will have his ticket ornamented with a 1-cent stamp, which the law specifically states must be paid by the company issuing it.

Personal property, as legacies or distributive shares arising from personal property transferred by a person having it in trust, is taxed. Where the value is between $10,000 and $25,000, the tax ranges from seventy-five cents to $5 for every hundred dollars of value, according to the degree of relationship between the deceased and the person entitled to any beneficial interest in such property. Where the value is between $25,000 and $100,000 the rates of duty are multiplied by one and one-half; where between $100,000 and $500,000, they are multiplied by two; where between $500,000 and $1,000,000, they are multiplied by two and one-half, and where in excess of $1,000,000, they are to be multiplied by three.

Persons, corporations, etc., engaged in making, packing or repacking mixed flour shall pay a tax at the rate of $12 per annum.

In addition to the above, barrels of mixed flour of between 98 and 196 pounds must bear a 4-cent stamp; between 49 and 98 pounds, a 2-cent stamp; between 24 and 49 pounds, a 1-cent stamp.

Beer, ale or porter will be taxed $2 instead of $1 per barrel.

Bankers will be taxed $50 if the capital does not exceed $25,000, and $2 for every $1,000 in addition to that amount of capital.

Stockholders will pay $50; pawnbrokers and commercial brokers, $20; custom house brokers, $10.

Proprietors of theaters, museums, and concert halls will pay one hundred per annum in cities of more than 25,000 population.

Proprietors of circuses must pay $100, and of all other shows public shows for money the tax is $10.

Proprietors of bowling alleys and billiard rooms will pay $5 for each alley or table.
